These are just a few of the words that have been used to describe Dan Butler's presentations:

The guest presentation was extremely moving and inspirational. One phrase that stuck with me was "if everyone put their problems on the table, everyone would take theirs back."

I loved the way his story paralleled his faith in Judaism. It is incredible to see how just one person could affect so many others lives and how one small voice can change the way we look at the world.

Daniel's presentation let me reflect on my own life and the challenges God has given me, though none are comparable to the trauma in Daniel's life.

He was very captivating and emotional throughout his entire speech. He did not lose my attention for a second, and really made me feel grateful that everything that I have. He was an amazing speaker from start to finish.

Not only did I think the story was incredible, but I just found him to be an unbelievable story teller. He had me completely mesmerized from beginning to end and you could see and feel all his emotion. However, I thought the best part was how he reiterated some strong points in Judaism that really answered my "why do bad things happen to good people" question - he said "Sometimes G-d says yes, sometimes he says no, but he always listens" and I think that is a great way to think about a person's relationship to G-d.

His story may not have made direct references to the laws and values of Judaism; however, this story did embody all the characteristics Jews should strive to be. These include being a mensch, caring about others, supporting your family, being a good role model, etc. We should also learn from this that we should not take our lives for granted. We are very blessed to live such healthy and happy lives.

Daniel suffered greatly and many unfair things seemed to happen to him, but he never seemed to question God or get angry with him. In fact, the opposite seemed to happen

His story was inspiring. Although it was very sad, he told the story with such hope and faith in the Jewish people. I was overwhelmed with emotion, not just because of the sadness of the story, but also because of the power of the Jewish people.

I was so moved by the guest presentation! It really made me think about how lucky I am to just have the basic functions as a human. It was so amazing...
